A: I use the HHD Photo Collection to edit slide shows, it has a very easy to use interface and can save as many images in as many formats as you want. I used to use Apple's iPhoto, but the interface just was a bit more complicated, and there were bugs that I could not find before updating it to the newest version. Here is a step by step guide to using it: Open HHD Photo Collection, which will start a slide show wizard. Browse through your pictures, adding them one at a time by clicking on the "Add Images" button Once you have added all of your images, click on the "Present" button to begin playing the slide show Use the Windows arrow keys or the mouse to navigate through the slide show. Click on the Stop button when you reach the final slide. The slide show will then be saved to a picture folder of your choice That's pretty much it, the rest is just clicking through the menu items. You can open all of your pictures at once by double clicking on the picture, or you can have it open all of them in a folder by choosing the "Add files" button and selecting "Add folders" from the submenu.
