Billingsley Kathryn Larson Billingsley (born c. 1949) was appointed Secretary of the Kentucky Department of Tourism and Travel (KTDTT) on June 2, 2013, under Governor Steve Beshear. She is the former Executive Director of the Kentucky Tourism, Arts and Heritage Cabinet. Billingsley was appointed in June 2011 by Governor Steve Beshear to serve as Executive Director of the Tourism, Arts and Heritage Cabinet, the administration public-private partnership charged with developing and implementing three-year, $49 million "Kentucky Tourism Blueprint" which represents Kentucky's communications strategy to attract 51 million visitors by 2016. The Blueprint is designed to positively impact Kentucky's ongoing tourism renaissance and highlight areas where the Commonwealth excels in quality of life, economic opportunity and visitor experience. The Blueprint focuses on four key components: marketing and public relations, currency and brand development, marketing studies and messaging (including an on-line brand), and legislative strategies. Billingsley earned her Bachelor of Arts at the College of the Holy Cross and her Master of Business Administration at Canisius College. Billingsley was selected as KTDTT's Executive Director with the support of the Governor, Speaker of the House Greg Stumbo and Senate President David Williams. Before being appointed by Governor Steve Beshear, Billingsley was the Executive Director of the Kentucky Travel Development Center (KTDC), a position she held since May 2005. Previously, she served as the executive director of the Cumberland Gap National Historical Park (2000–2005) and the Bureau of Tourism (2000–2004) of the National Park Service. Prior to her tour at the National Park Service, she worked as a practitioner and researcher at the Center for Information on Cities (CIC) and the National Association of State Comprehensive Planning Agencies (NASCAPA). She has also practiced in government, economic development, community-based planning and managed rural tourism. Early life and education Kathryn Larson Billingsley was born in Watertown, MA, the daughter of Thaddeus Billingsley and Katherine Spencer. She attended the University of Notre Dame of Maryland, Notre Dame of Maryland, Baltimore,

Great adventure game with a great storyline! 5 Posted on 11/02/2014 By Steny23 An excellent game. Gameplay is different enough to offer a unique experience. This game really gives you that 'what if' feeling. All the graphics are amazing too. Graphics are pretty much on par with the likes of Divinity: Original Sin but with a more RPG tone to it. Starbound Posted on 11/02/2014 By Nonayork Starbound: Darkest Faerie (PC) This game is incredibly hard. It takes some dedication. A brave team of heroes can beat even the most powerful of the evil forces. Its rare to find a game with all the depth, challenge, and tension that Starbound offers. It is one of the best games ever made. One of my favorites. 6 Posted on 02/14/2014 By MikeyTwin While I like the game overall, there are some issues with the game mechanics.
