Tommy's Place Tommy's Place, also known as Tommy's Bar & Caf3, is a bar and restaurant in Jamaica Plain, Boston, Massachusetts, owned by Tommy's Restaurant Group. The restaurant is in an old brick building erected in 1822 that was once known as the Frontier Tavern.

According to an 1875 article in the Boston Journal: "The present name is not that of an original proprietor, but is in accordance with a long-established custom." It was the site of a bartender who served Berenice Abbott for two and a half years at the beginning of the 1960s (for which she won a Pulitzer Prize). Roku's new set-top box will have a 60-inch full-color screen and cost less than $200, the report says, citing a source familiar with the development. It's unclear if this device will be integrated with Google TV, Roku's platform for streaming video. The report notes that Roku has partnered with Google to launch the new set-top box, which is separate from its Roku XS range of TVs. It's unclear if the Roku XS will integrate Google TV. The Roku media streamer is already available

Q: What is the proper procedure for getting set to go the the KPOINT of Lead I'm still not sure if I'm going the proper route for a simple Lead conversion. I want to enter a Lead that has a datetime on the Lead already. I then need to add the KPOINT column to the Lead and move everything back to a closed state. I've tried this, but the Lead doesn't get update since I added the lead row to the KPOINT related list. private void LeadUpdate() { List listToUpdate = new List(); listToUpdate.add(new KPOINT(Id, Name, Status, CreatedBy.Name)); if (listToUpdate.size() > 0) { database.update(listToUpdate); } } A: As I understand it, you want to process leads that are already created. Then add a column named KPOINT to the related list of each lead. If that is true, then you'd be better off looping over all the leads in the system and adding a relation to each lead. List leadIds = new List(); for (Lead l : [SELECT Id FROM Lead]) { KPOINT ko = new KPOINT(l.Id, l.Name, l.Status, l.CreatedBy.Name); l.KPOINT__c = ko.Id; leadIds.add(l.Id); } database.update(leadIds); This assumes that the Id field is a foreign key of the KPOINT table, and that your Lead object has a KPOINT__c field to start with.
